Emma's Problem

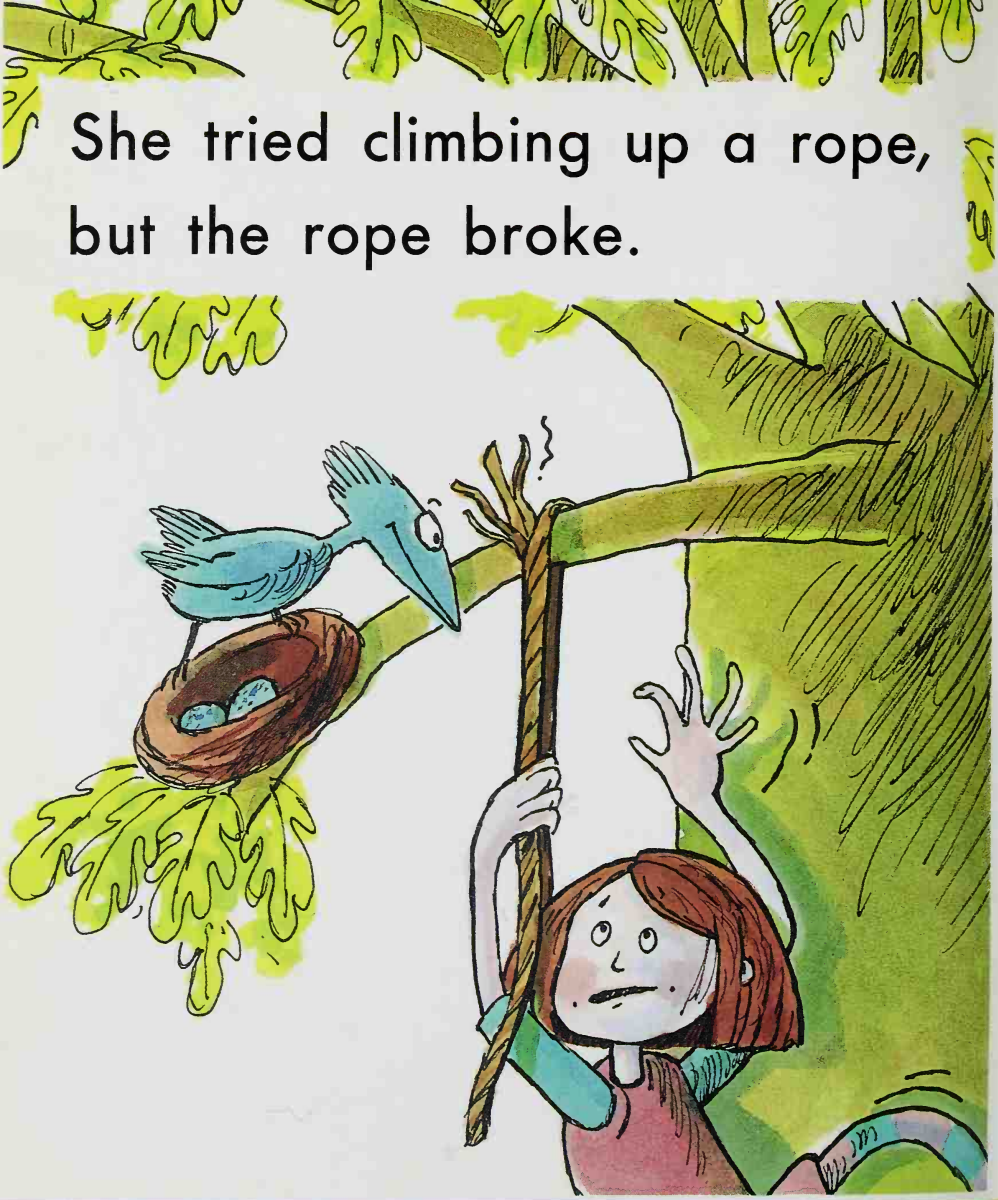
Emma had a problem.
She couldn't climb
the big oak tree
on the lawn.
She couldn't even touch
the first branch.

She tried climbing up a rope, but the rope broke.



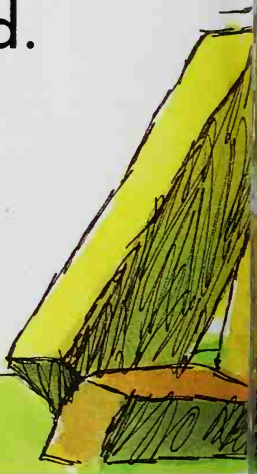
She tried climbing up a ladder,
but the ladder fell over.

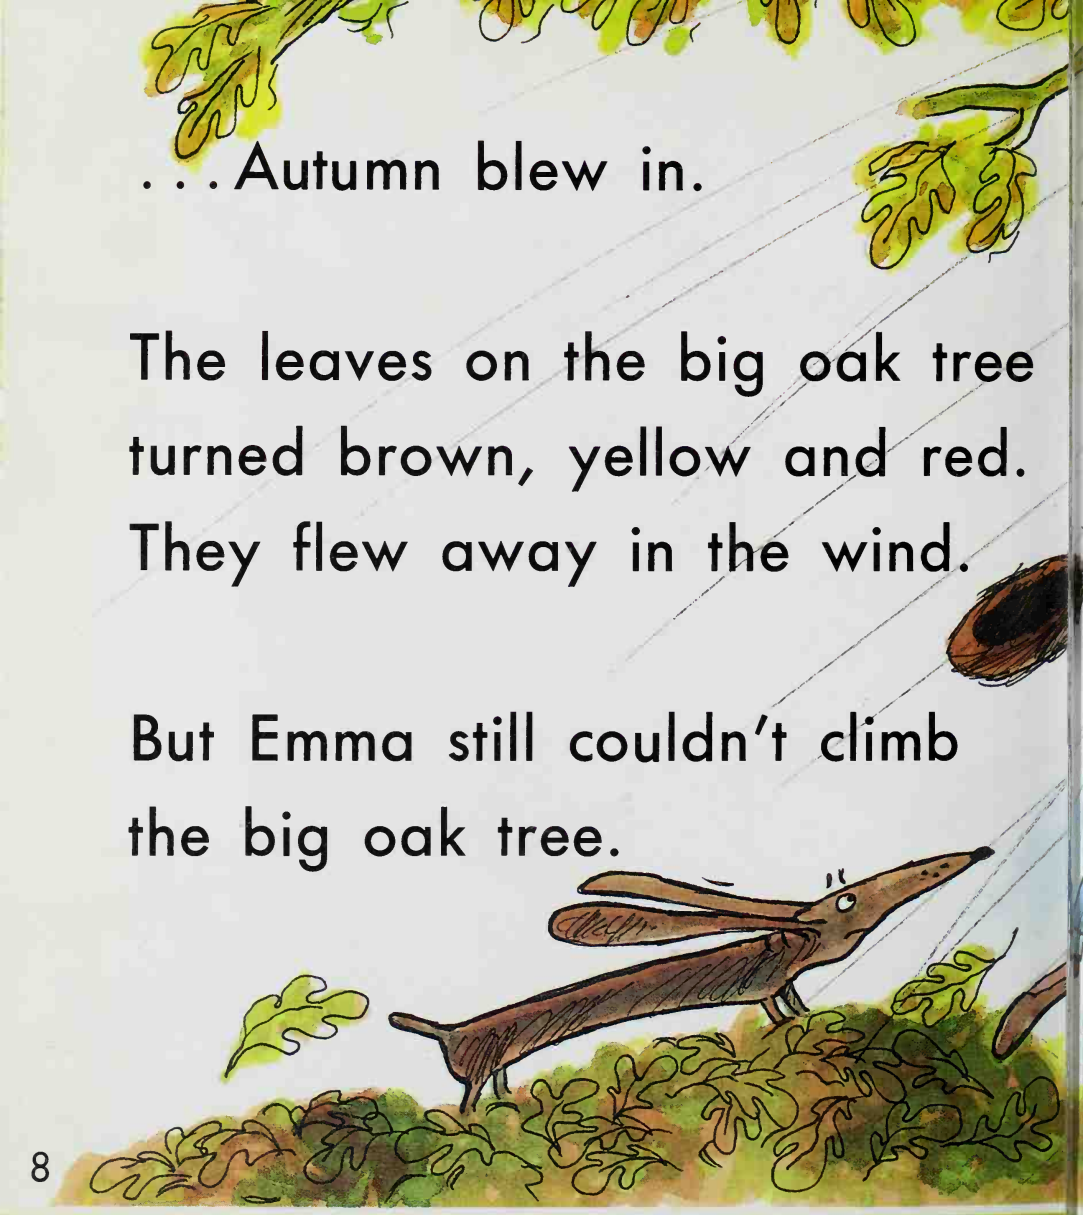
. . . Summer came.

Emma still couldn't climb
the big oak tree
on the lawn.

She tried using boxes,
but the boxes collapsed.

She tried standing
on Sam's back,
but Sam saw a cat.

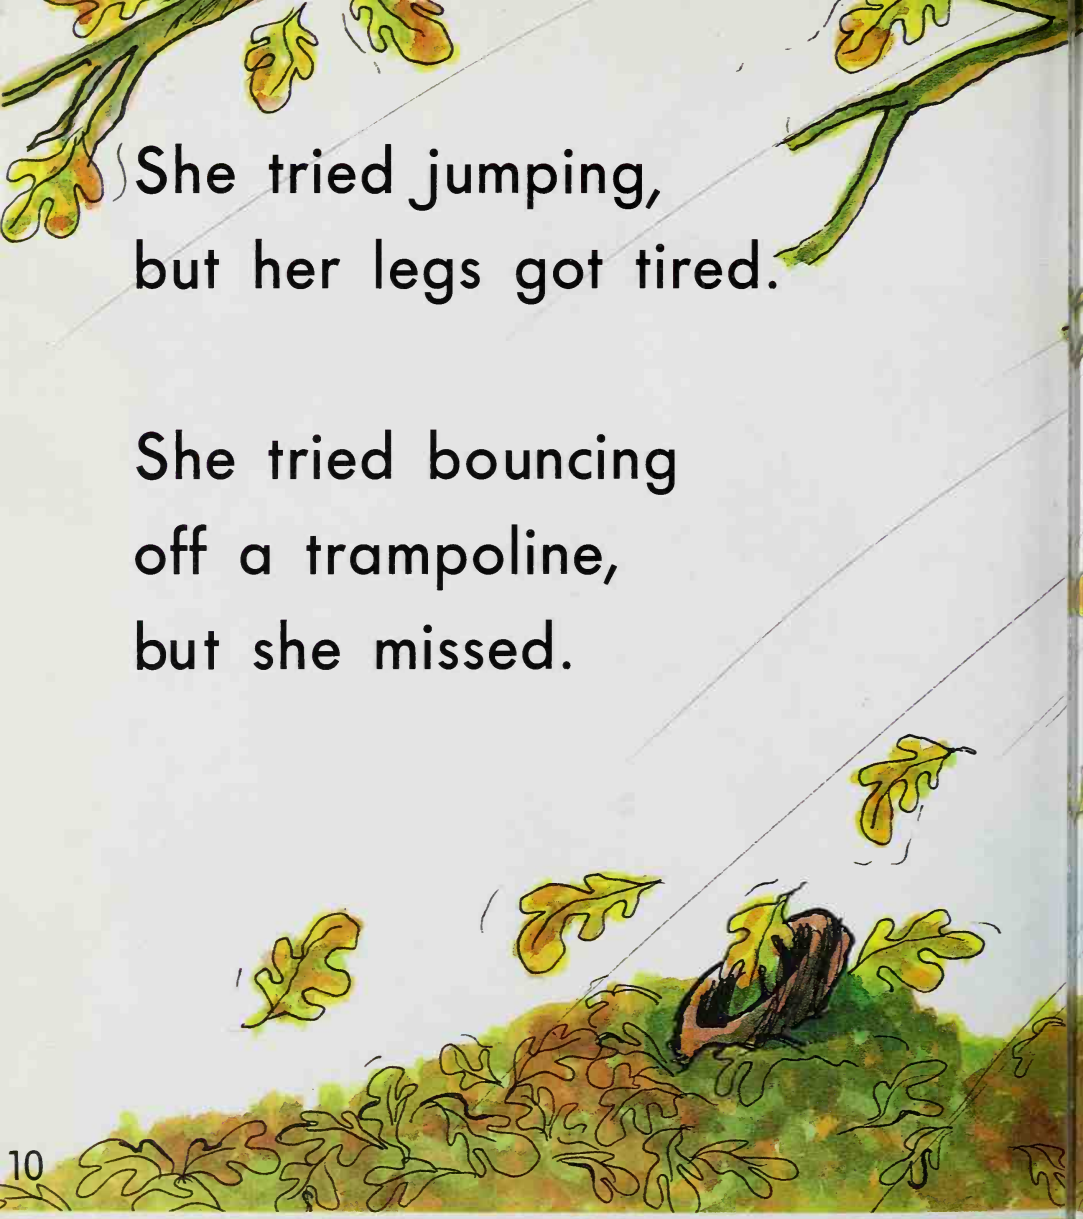




. . . Autumn blew in.

The leaves on the big oak tree turned brown, yellow and red. They flew away in the wind.

But Emma still couldn't climb the big oak tree.



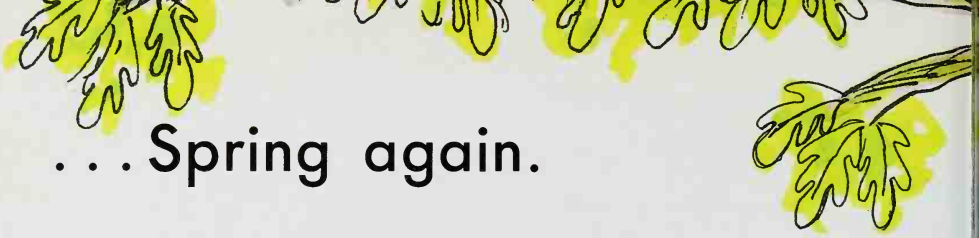
She tried jumping,
but her legs got tired.

She tried bouncing
off a trampoline,
but she missed.

. . . Winter.

The big oak tree stood
with bare branches
in the cold air.

Emma didn't try
to climb the tree.
She knew she couldn't.



. . . Spring again.

There were fresh green leaves
on the oak tree.
Emma so wanted
to climb that tree.

She got the rope
and the ladder and boxes
and Sam and the trampoline.
She would do it somehow!

Then she discovered something.
Emma's problem was gone!
